Washington, D.C. – Today, Joyetech Group is pleased to announce that we are joining the Vapor Technology Association (VTA), the vapor industry’s premier public policy and advocacy organization based in Washington, D.C., as member of the Board of Directors. Joyetech is one of the largest vapor device manufacturers in the world whose forward-thinking management has assembled a talented team of engineers creating high-quality products.

VTA is a leading advocate for device and e-liquid manufacturers, wholesalers, small business owners and entrepreneurs who have developed innovative and quality vapor products, providing adult consumers with a safer alternative to traditional combustible products.

“VTA is the advocacy organization that Joyetech has chosen to partner with to lead the fight for the vapor product industry,” said Jason Yao, Vice President. “We are very impressed with the strong and steady leadership that VTA is providing the industry in the U.S., and the direct impact that they are having on regulations at both the national and state levels. We are eager to share our knowledge and expertise on the most important issue of developing standards and look forward to working with VTA to directly impact the future of vapor products.”

“Joyetech not only produces high quality vapor products, but they are taking a leading role in the development of sound industry standards for the manufacturing of vapor devices,” said Tony Abboud, VTA’s Executive Director. “We are proud to have them join our team.”
